I chose to work at First Presbyterian School because I love being able to share my love of Jesus with the children in my class. I love that we offer smaller class sizes and I'm able to individualize my lesson plans for each child. I love the wonderful staff that I work with daily, and the families here at First Presbyterian. My favorite part of being a preschool teacher is watching my students find the love of learning. My goal as a teacher is make sure my kids feel safe and loved, not only when they are in my classroom, but after they leave First Presbyterian.
